Corrective Action Plan

Instructional Salary and Benefit costs reflect only a short portion of the school year beginning in early August and will reflect a normal percentage of Instructional Salaries and Benefits in second quarter reporting. Capital Outlay expenses will be reflected strongly in subsequent quarters as a facilities project, comprised of a career center and two standard classrooms, gets underway and near completion by the end of June, 2019.

Summary of Activities:

Expenditures reflect the salaries and benefits of classified intake staff and certificated support staff managing student registration toward the start of the fall program. Quarter 1 expenditures also reflect instructional staff salaries and benefits, including staffing for several new academic programs. Funds supported the purchase of software licensing for several programs. Additionally, consortium-wide expenditures supported consortium program promotion and outreach and professional development for member agency staff.

We have hired a counselor for the adult education program and will be increasing hours in order to work one on one with students. We are increasing course offerings for adult education by adding a computer course and GED preparation course. Purchasing new online curriculum for the HSD course Purchasing laptops and computer equipment necessary for expanding course offerings for students.

Summary of Activities:

Our new adult education counselor will provide more academic counseling services to students as well as inform students about various community programs they can access. Upland adult school is in the process of expanding course offerings to include a computer education course and GED preparation course. In order to expand our services, computer laptops and equipment will be ordered.

At this time we have several items that have been encumbered for instructional supplies that have not hit the books. We still have two projects happening at the Adult School, such as creating a 21st century learning room for the computer applications class. We are also in the process of installing safety features on the gate leading onto the campus such as a buzz gate and cameras.
